RAILROAD SHOPS OPERATING FULL FORCE ONCE MORE

All Men Returned to Work
This Morning Under Agreement Made Sunday.

Grievances Will Be Taken Up
In Order.

NO STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT.

Pack to the shops!

This refrain was good over the city this morning as the hundreds of employees of the Illinois Central railroad shops returned to their work. The trouble resulting in the walkout of the employees last Wednesday and Thursday was adjusted satisfactorily late Sunday afternoon after a several hours' conference between the union leaders and the Illinois Central officials.

Terms of the settlement were not given out to the public, and both the men and the officials retained a silence that could not be broken. The only information given out to the press by either side was this written statement: "The trouble at Paducah has been satisfactorily settled and all men are to go back to work."

Beyond that they refused to talk, and declined to answer questions.

This morning Q. P. Wallace, one of the former whom the men opposed, was at his regular post as foreman, while Houston McGuire, temporary foreman during the absence of J. R. Sutherland, fire and police committee man, was also on duty. However, it is said that the trouble over F. A. Milliken as foreman, adjusted itself. With the return of Leonard Phelps, the regular foreman, and Milliken returned to the ranks.

It is said that it was agreed to dispose of the questions of the foremen in the regular way. Written charges have been preferred. It is rumored, and the question of removing the foremen will be taken up by the officials in Chicago in ten days.

Whether the railroad officials recognized the general committee is an open question. It was given out that the officials recognized the committee first Saturday afternoon, when a conference was held. Sunday afternoon the committee went into conference with the officials at 1:30 o'clock, and remained in session until about 5 o'clock, when it was announced that the trouble had been adjusted. However, today it was intimated that the officials did not recognize the general committee, but met the committee separately as the officials were willing to do since the trouble began. Another report is that the committee was recognized but the question of inserting it in the contract will be taken up in Chicago later.

All Back at Work.

All the employees returned to work, including the carmen at Clinton, Cedar Bluff, and Hopkinsville. The blacksmiths have a small grievance independent of the regular trouble, and last night A. L. Carr, of Clinton, Ill., president of the blacksmiths, and H. H. Cleary, the local representative, left for Chicago, where they will take up the grievance with the officials.

In presenting the carmen, Martin F. Ryan, of Kansas City, Mo., general president of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, arrived yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock shortly before the trouble was settled. Mr. Ryan will meet the carmen tonight, and will return to his home tomorrow. O. L. Sauborn, chairman of the joint protective board, has been in the city for several days, while G. L. Dry, secretary-treasurer, of Carbondale, Ill., was also in the city today.

Officials Still Here.

The officials of the Illinois Central remained in the city today, but late this afternoon, will return to Chicago. W. H. Bell, superintendent of machinery; J. M. Horr, superintendent of the car department; and A. H. Egan, superintend-

Electrical Storm over Atlantic
Makes Friends Apprehensive
For His Safety--Wireless Seeking Balloon.

Siasconsett, Mass., Oct. 17.—All records for continuous flight in a dirigible have been broken by Walter Wellman in the airship "America," in which he and a crew of six, are attempting to fly to Europe. The former record of 37 hours was held by Count Zeppelin. At 10:30 o'clock this morning Wellman had been 50 hours in the air. The Atlantic ocean off the northeast coast today is being combed by wireless in the fear that the balloon has been disabled in an electrical storm, reported to be raging off Cape Sable.

The storm has caused alarm among enthusiasts here. A government tug will be sent to rescue the party, if bad news is received. Transatlantic lines continue on the lookout for wireless flashes from Wellman. The land stations must receive them through vessels.

HOT IN CANADA MAKES BLOOD FLOW FREELY

Canada, that "quiet" little settlement on the south side that causes Constable A. C. Shelton the loss of many hours of sleep, was awake Saturday night. According to Constable Shelton the turmoil eclipsed all previous disturbances. Part of the population is alleged to have participated in a free-for-all drag-out fight and several are said to have been handled more roughly than usual. A negro was clubbed over the head with a beer bottle until he was senseless and covered with blood. Constable Shelton with other county officials are investigating the riot and warrants are expected this afternoon or tomorrow.

Burley Pool Goes to Pieces and It Dumps 200,000,000 Pounds on Market, Affecting Dark Prices

Review of Situation In Black Patch Shows Growers and Buyers Far Apart, With Last Year's Prices in Sight.

While dark tobacco growers will realize a good price for their product this year, the break of the burley pool is bound to react on the Black Patch markets, according to dealers in western Kentucky. With the season only about two weeks off the growers and buyers are far apart and there are just now small prospects of heavy early deliveries. Farmers are holding their product for nine and ten cents around. Some sixty or seventy thousand pounds delivered last week at Paducah and Mayfield brought approximately six cents for leaf and four for lugs. The discrepancy between what the farmers are demanding, and what speculators are paying on the loose leaf market for early deliveries indicates the unsettled condition of the market. The speculators don't know yet what the season will bring forth. However, the most competent observers predict that the planters will receive an average of seven and a half cents a pound, which they may equal 15 cent cotton and dollar wheat as a paying product.

Last year after the holidays tobacco in the western district went up approximately a dollar a hundred and the farmers who sold early last year, though they received a good price, are a little offish about taking the first money offered them this year. Crop and market conditions are both to be considered in estimating the price to be paid. Just as matters stand, there is little activity on the part of buyers. They think the farmer is asking too much and they are waiting for him to come down. Speculators can't touch the price asked. But the next two or three weeks, when other work is out of the way and the farmer has stemmed his tobacco and is anxious to get it off his hands, may make a wonderful difference in the situation.

The crop is better and larger than last year. This is the testimony of all buyers, who have been over the district. It should command a higher average than that of last year on the same basis of prices; but buyers say the price basis will be slightly under last year's and the farmer will average about the same, probably.

The English market is disturbed by the new tariff. The Lloyd-George budget has put on a tax that practically eliminates the independent dealer from the market. There is an agitation for a revision of the tax, and consequently, buyers are staying off the market in anticipation of the change. This is felt in the Black Patch, more particularly in the Henderson stemming district; but the western district sells a considerable quantity in England, and the demand for that weed is seriously abated. Buyers for other markets are taking account of this factor.

Then the break in the Burley pool, throwing 200,000,000 pounds of the 1910 crop on a market already burdened with 100,000,000 pounds of the 1909 pool is bound to affect the whole tobacco market, according to the wise ones. It seems that banks were tired of holding all that tobacco as collateral, and the farmers were tired of waiting for their money and losing the use of it. The pool broke Hooks Defeat Boilermakers.

The B. B. Hooks defeated the Illinois Central railroad boilermakers yesterday afternoon at League park by a score of 10 to 5. Dickie, twirler for the boilermakers, was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning, and Bock, who was catching, took the mound and finished out the rest of the game. Hannan and Brahe were the batters for the Hooks. The Hooks will probably play Golconda next Sunday on the Illinois soil.

Leagues Today.

Score of Games by Innings Received Here.

ATHLETICS TAKE THE FIRST.

The Evening Sun will receive and broadcast the reports of the world's championship baseball series by innings, and will be pleased to furnish news of the game to telephone inquirers.

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 17. Surrounded by 33,000 baseball fans and under conditions of sufficient intensity and excitement to make the scene dramatic, the Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Cubs, this afternoon began the fight for the championship of the whole world. It was the biggest baseball day Philadelphia has ever known. Weather conditions are ideal.

Owing to the crowded grounds, rules were necessary, which allowed two bases on a hit beyond the ropes. Connolly, of the American League, was chosen to judge balls and strikes, and O'Day to give base decisions. Rigler and Sheridan were stationed in the outfield.

The Cubs remain a favorite in betting, a $1,000 to $700 wager being recorded shortly after noon. The Cubs caught and Bender pitched for the Athletics. Overall and Kling were the Cubs' batters. Promptly at 2:15 the game was called.

The teams lined up:
Chicago—Sheppard, lf; Schulte, rf; Hofman, cf; Chance, fb; Zimmerman, 2b; Steinfeld, 3b; Tinker, ss; Kling, c; Overall, p.
Philadelphia—Lord, lf; McInnes, cf; Collins, 2b; Baker, 3b; Davis, 1b; Murphy, rf; Barry, ss; Thomas, c; Bender, p.

First inning—Cubs—Sheppard hit the first ball pitched for a foul over left bleachers. Sheppard fanned. Schulte singled to left. Schulte out stealing second. Thomas to Collins. Hoffman out. Collins to Davis. No runs.

Athletics—Sirnus hustled towards third, out. Steinfeld to Chance. Lord flew to Hoffman. Collins singled over Steinfeld and was thrown out when he broke for second on a throw from Kling to Tinker. No runs.

Second—Cubs—Chance to short, thrown out by Barry. Zimmerman fouled to Baker. Steinfeld hit to Haker, out at first. No runs.

Athletics—Davis doubled to left. Davis sacrificed. Chance to Zimmerman, who fumbled the ball. Thomas went to second. Strunk drew to Sheppard. Two runs.

Third—Cubs—Tinker grounded to Collins and was out. Kling, with two strikes and three balls, hit straight up. Bender caught him out. Overall hit to Barry and was out at first.

ATHLETICS—Lord hit over Hoffman for two bases. Collins swerved to Chance. Lord flew to Zimmerman. Lord took third. Baker singling to left, scored. Hoffman out. Collins to Davis. No runs.

Fourth inning—Cubs—Sheppard grounded to Berry, and was out at first. Schulte walked. Hoffman fanned. Schulte out, stealing. Thomas to Collins. Hoffman to Tinker. One run.

Fifth inning—Cubs—Sheppard grounded to Berry, and was out at first. Schulte walked. Hoffman fanned. Schulte out, stealing. Thomas to Collins. Hoffman to Tinker. No runs.

McIntyre succeeded Overall in the box.

Athletics—Murphy hit to Tinker, and was out. Berry out. Steinfeld to Chance. Thomas fanned. No runs.

Fifth inning—Cubs—Chance hit to Steinfeld, out. Steinfeld fanned. No runs.

Athletics—Collins hit to Zimmerman, and was out at first. Tinker fanned through the box, but Tinker tossed him out at first. Davis was out, Zimmerman to Chance. No runs.

Sixth inning—Cubs—Sheppard hit to Davis. Schulte fanned. Hoffman to Davis. Schulte fanned. Hoffman hit to third out at first.

STOCK EXCHANGE ACTIVITY MARKED

TENDENCY OF PRICES IS STEADILY UPWARD.

Political Situation Not So Aggravating — Money Is Now Easier.

GENERAL BUSINESS IS QUIET

New York, Oct. 17.—Activity on the Stock Exchange increased in spite of interruption of the holidays, and the undertone of the market was strong, the tendency of prices being steadily upwards. The influence contributing chiefly towards reviving confidence was the October crop report. This removed all doubt concerning the corn crop; the government report exceeding even the most sanguine expectations of a 3,000,000,000 bushel crop. Corn is king not only because of its great money value, but because of the numerous directions in which it is used both for domestic and industrial purposes. In money value it exceeds both wheat and cotton combined. The wheat yield, though not what was desired, has exceeded early expectations, and a large crop of oats has also been harvested. The yield of cotton has been disappointing; but, so far as the South is concerned, this will be fully compensated for by enhanced prices. All doubts concerning the crops are now out of the way, except cotton, which will be subject to danger from early frost for at least another two weeks. Since the harvest is the most important element in our national prosperity, it is a source of satisfaction that this factor of uncertainty is now permanently eliminated.

It is announced that the president will go to Cincinnati to vote on November 8.

The political outlook, another well-worn element of doubt, is steadily improving. Radicalism is being rebuked in all directions; issues have now been clearly defined, and seem to depend very largely upon personality. The comparative lack of interest in election issues is shown by the falling off in registration in all parts of the country compared with previous years. It is taken for granted that Republicans will have to face considerable losses at the poll's next November, and there is some probability that the next congress may become Democratic. This fact, however, appears to cause little real uneasiness, and the elections are certainly a much less threatening element than two or three months ago. It is also a noticeable fact that public opinion is becoming less hostile to corporations; this being due partly to public recognition of the fact that corporations are here to stay, and partly to the fact that managers of the latter recognize that they must submit to some form of regulation, obey the law and show a decent regard for public opinion. The change in the latter respect manifested in various quarters is highly encouraging as tending to dislodge much of public criticism. No one now seriously fears the forthcoming supreme court decisions on the oil, tobacco and other cases. The court may force reorganization, but is not going to destroy probably have no further injurious effect than the famous Northern Securities case. No harm but good followed that decision. The prospects of the railroads securing reasonable treatment from the Interstate commerce commission are daily increasing. So that question is also nearing solution. In this connection President McCrea's address on behalf of the Pennsylvania before the Interstate commerce commission was a striking feature. His argument for better rates was temperate, strong and based upon well known facts. It will not debt have much weight with the commission and do much towards securing Business.

General business is quiet and smaller in volume than a year ago. There has been a large shrinkage in bank clearings, amounting to 16 per cent. in the month of September. This, however, is explained by a shrinkage of 26 per cent. in the clearings at New York, which alone constitute more than half the entire clearings of the country. In this city the loss in clearings was, of course, very largely due to diminished speculative activity. In other leading cities the decline for the month was much less noticeable. For instance, Philadelphia showed a loss of 5 per cent. Boston 8 per cent and Chicago 4 per cent, while Baltimore showed an increase of 16 per cent. Kansas City 8 per cent. Minneapolis 17 per cent. San Francisco 13 per cent. Los Angeles 2 per cent. St. Louis 2 per cent. New Orleans 4 per cent. Galveston, 30 per cent and Atlanta 15 per cent. Taken by sections, the Middle States showed a decrease in clearings of 23 per cent. New England 6 per cent and the Middle Western States only 1 per cent, while other Western States show an increase of 9 per cent. The Pacific States an increase of 5 per cent. It will thus be seen that New York is still the great center of depression; that the further away one travels from this city, the less the reaction; and that in many cities, especially in the West and South, the volume of business is still considerably ahead of last year. When comparing clearings some allowance must be made for the fact that values are generally on a lower plane than a year ago. In the iron trade reactionary symptoms are still observable owing to much of the present capacity being unemployed, and lower prices are needed to stimulate orders. Somewhat more activity is observable in cotton goods, due rather to buyers recognizing the scarcity of cotton than to any increase in consumption of cotton fabrics.

The present situation as a whole warrants more cheerfulness. The country is still passing through a period of readjustment, evidently not entirely completed. In all probability it is going to be a quiet winter for trade at large. The disasters so long expected, however, have not occurred; and the outlook for a satisfactory solution of some of the graver economic problems of the day is more encouraging than has been the case for many months. Industry is taking a compulsory rest after a prolonged period of excessive activity. Under the new conditions we should be long before accumulating a fresh supply of capital. Investors have withdrawn from the market for so long a period that funds must be accumulating. Undigested issues must be in process of assimilation. Banking opinion may still be divided as to the future course of the market, but essential conditions are unmistakably clearing and strengthening. In the first six or eight months of the year the stock market was actively engaged in discounting reaction. Now that the change in fundamental conditions is being recognized, it is showing equal readiness in discounting recovery.

reasonable treatment for the railroads.

Money.

The money situation is much better than expected; the stringency anticipated this fall having thus far not materialized. The surplus reserve of New York banks is now down to a rather low level, but regular trade demands are less than usual, and bankers are persistently discouraging undue speculation. It is quite possible that firm spells may be experienced between now and the first of January, but no crisis is anticipated. Perhaps the worst feature in the situation is the excess of loans over deposits observed in recent bank statements in various parts of the country. This is a significant development and will bear watching. Money is firm in Europe, which will tend to discourage gold exports to this country. Our foreign trade, however, is assuming more normal proportions, and our exports of agricultural products especially are increasing noticeably. In September they were ahead of last year, and it would cause no surprise if in October they would also exceed last year in value. Cotton shipments have been rushed forward in anticipation of a deadlock over the cotton bill controversy. After October 31 British bankers will discontinue guaranteeing cotton bills, unless some agreement is made with bankers on this side. Of course some settlement is inevitable; for Britain is just as much in need of our cotton as we are of her money. The latest project is the creation of a corporation to guarantee cotton bills upon terms agreed to by both sides. Nevertheless, a deadlock or trial of strength may happen before reaching a settlement, and the rush movement of cotton which is now going on is no doubt to enable the British bankers to take a firmer stand, if necessary.

THREAD OF LIFE IS BEING WOVEN

DR. GEIGER ON WEAVING AT GRACE EPISCOPAL.

Takes Text From Job's Philosophy and Draws Moral Lesson Therefrom.

DR. BURKE ON FATE'S IRONY.

"My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle, and are spent without hope,"—Job, 7:6.

Life is an infinite process of weaving, according to the Rev. Henry J. Geiger, rector of St. Paul's of Hickman, Ky. In his sermon at the Grace Episcopal church Sunday morning, he compared life with a web and his sermon was filled with these symbolic thoughts.

Job was prone to look at life in a most prosaic way, said Dr. Geiger. He might have said, "My days are short," but he was full of picturesque thoughts which he expressed. Dr. Geiger said one finds the symbol of weaving throughout literature. As far back as 1600 B. C. we read where the Empress planted mulberry trees for her silk worms to feed and weave upon. Weaving was referred to extensively by the Greeks and the Three Fates symbolize the problems of today.

We wonder why the good die young, he said "why the young man's thread of life is cut." It is predestination and the old philosophers called it a philosophical necessity. He said it is hard thing to satisfy the human heart. He told of the painting by Michael Angelo of the Three Fates and said the painting was the three aspects of the same face. Our fate, he said, is God's will and life is a divine progress of weaving; weaving the divine and the human life into the Lord, Jesus Christ.

The old proverb is that "For the web of God, God gives the thread."

Many think, said Mr. Geiger, the thread is misused. Life is a web we are constantly working and our lives can be woven bright by service and activity in Jesus. What we have woven, he said, is an irrevocable record for or against us; there are tangles and breaks. The tangles may represent the time at which we meet temptation and the broken threads the time when we have been rebellious in trouble with Christ. Faith takes all inconsistencies of life. The dropped switches of the web represent the time one has wasted and the neglected opportunities. God, he said, is the author and finisher of our fate.

Dr. Geiger said in our lives there are colored threads, blue and black being symbolic of sin and sorrow; red symbolic of suffering and gray symbolic of grief and despair. The white is symbolic of the Christian life, purity and consistency. There is a red thread in the history of all humanity, according to Mr. Geiger. He told of the weaver who sees only the rough side and ragged edges of the web, but keeps weaving knowing that the web will be perfect on the opposite side if he follows his pattern. So in the lives of everyone, he said, and heaven will be the revelation. Therefore, be ye steadfast and unmovable in the sight of the Lord.

Dr. Geiger filled the pulpit at the Grace church yesterday morning and night in the absence of the Rev. D. C. Wright, who will return this week and be in his charge next Sunday. Dr. Geiger was the guest of

ANNIVERSARY SALE

TEN years ago, on the morning of October 21st, 1900, Paducah was visited by a very disastrous fire, when Morton's opera house and L. B. Ogilvie's store went up in flames. Now when one goes to the Kentucky Theatre, sees how large, commodious and modern it is and shops at the present store of OGILVIE'S, with its magnificent light, roominess and many modern conveniences, and recalls the old store, together with Morton's Opera house, he must conclude that the city of Paducah was benefitted by the fire, even if a few individuals suffered a pecuniary loss.

Nine years ago, on October 17th, we moved into our present modern building. As both these anniversaries come this week, we will celebrate them with an Anniversary Sale, giving the citizens of Paducah many bargains, in appreciation of their past favors.

Daily Thought.

So long as we love we serve. So long as we are loved by others, I would almost say we are indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend.

—Robert Louis Stevenson

Coal men would do well to take warning and not reduce prices; else they might be indicted.

The annual roundup of bawdy houses by which they submit to agreed fines, part of which go to the county and part to the prosecuting officers, at least, exposes their presence in the city.

REASON PREVAILLED.

Regardless of the practical issues at stake between employer and employee, the public has an interest in labor disputes, and it is gratifying to observe a disposition on the part of both sides to get together and discuss the matters between them. This disposition was manifested by the union men of the Illinois Central shops and the officials of the railroad. What terms they reached we do not know—that is their business; but the manner in which they reached the terms—that is our business somewhat, and we are glad to observe that reason, a sense of fair play, and a spirit of good feeling, and not animosity, prejudice and ill-will were displayed. It puts both sides in good odor with the public; and that is important.

A LAY SERMON.

It is seldom we frankly indulge in a sermon; but sometimes religious obligations and broad, practical philanthropy become so obviously identical that the press is justified in assuming the friendly function of calling attention to it. This sermon is addressed to Jews, Protestants and Catholics. For those transcendentalists, who deny the evidences of their own senses, and those materialists, who have eyes that see not and ears that hear not, we can have no message.

If history teaches us one thing above another that distinguishes the God of the Jew and the Christian from the gods of the heathens, it is that he demands of his believers a definite, affirmative conduct of life. There is a rational belief in a future state of rewards and punishment, and to each is given, according to his accepted doctrine, a conception of this future state and those observances which his religion enforces. But for one brief period of this immense eternity, we are all placed in Paducah by the Creator for some purpose, and here are formed relationships, which impose upon each individual a personal obligation, from which his church cannot relieve him.

Whatever God's methods and purposes may be, the man, who believes in a future state can scarcely question it. If, while on earth his presence proves a blessing to his fellowman, he smacks of heaven in his very personality; and, if his conduct tends the other way, no reasonable being could complain if his Creator should conclude his task run more toward Hell, and act accordingly.

The earliest Hebrew book of the law enjoins upon all true believers the love of God and their fellowmen, and the Christ of the Christian, who claimed to institute not a new religion, but to be the fulfillment and interpretation of the Jewish religion, emphasized this injunction, called it the great commandment and declared that upon it "hung all the law and prophets." From the institutions of the Ten Commandments to the words of the dying Christ, there is nothing but sympathy and pity expressed for the positive sins of the flesh, and the whole Jewish and Christian religion is concerned with a vast system of vicarious atonement for these sins; because God recognizes all sins as evidences of inherent weakness.

The Ten Commandments are not a harsh law by which to condemn mankind, but a recognition of those cardinal sins, which mankind is prone to commit, and a standing warning against their commission, established by a benevolent Supreme Being. Throughout the Christian religion the same commiseration for the weaknesses of the flesh and desire to lift and restore fallen humanity is manifested in its observances and teachings.

Not condemnation for the sins of weakness, but their expiation is the note of the gospel; but there is one sin, in which the prophets and the Christ unite in condemning in unmitigated terms—the sin of hypocrisy. Isaiah in fine scorn voices the abhorrence of God for "lip service"; and he calls it not only meaningless but iniquitous; a blasphemous mockery of the Divine Being with forms and ceremonies, when there is no love of God and humanity in the heart.

The Christ in his parables of the last day plainly declares that he has not commanded a mere negative refraining from certain evils; but has commanded affirmative conduct, and his pictures on the Judgment Day humanly passing in review, when some will say we have not cursed, we have not drunk, we have not stolen, we have not lied, we have not stayed away from church. And they will be told: Yes, and here are some other things you have not done—you have not visited the sick and afflicted; you have not given a cup of cold water to thirsty in My name, you have not given food to the hungry, you have not ministered to those in prison, you have not clothed the naked.

And then some will be heard to murmur that they didn't know of any that were hungry, or thirsty, or sick, or naked or in prison, that they neglected.

It may prove embarrassing, because, you know, one really ought to have looked them up. But this discourse is intended to forestall part of that embarrassment. There are people in Paducah dying of tuberculosis under conditions that expose others to their disease. There is in this city an organization, founded principally upon faith, that has erected a tuberculosis sanitorium on Jackson's hill in McCracken county, where these people can be taken and the ravages of the disease stayed by proper treatment.

We have magnificent houses of worship in this city, and we would not have it otherwise; nothing is too grand or too beautiful to be the means through which a creature expresses his adoration of his Creator; but it would be shameful to some of us to face the Judgment Day with the knowledge that while we erected fine piles to the glory of the Creator, we neglected the modest little house on Jackson's hill for the reclamations of some of His own creatures.

We recognize the fact that most of the money contributed to all worthy causes comes from the pious, church-going people, and we are not passing judgment on the individual, who fails to contribute to this cause. We are merely putting the issues up to him, for him to judge himself. We realize that many have their own organizations of a similar character to which they give liberally; that too many of us permit an organization to take care of our benevolence for us, and thereby lose the benefit, which comes from the personal touch. Yet there are certain kinds of philanthropy, which can be attained in their full measure only by organization and co-operation, and necessarily this is one of them. It is a nonsectarian, practical, broad philanthropy, the benefit of which will effect not only the individuals but the community, and will be realized in direct ratio to the amount invested. Mr. A. R. Meyers is treasurer of the organization, the membership fee is nominal, and the need great. Mr. Meyers can be reached by telephone in the east for several weeks and the majority of his time has been occupied by the prison congress, which was attended by 125 prison officials from Europe and 40 prison officials from America. The members aboard a special train started from New York and inspected all of the leading prisons in the states east of Michigan. After the tour and the personal inspection, the delegates went to Washington, where an eight days' session was held, during which the observations were discussed. Colonel Ayres was honored by being elected a member of the board of the International Prison Congress. Some of the best prisons in America were observed, and the buildings ranked as a palace in comparison with the Kentucky prisons, but in none of the prisons was the discipline of the Kentucky convicts surpassed, said Colonel Ayres.

BURLEY POOL

of its own weight. There is no doubt that when the burley growers pooled their tobacco and cut out one crop, it materially boosted the price of dark tobacco, and the same reasoning leads buyers to believe the dumping of the pool will affect the price the other way.

At the same time no one can be found to say that the price will materially decline below that of last year. Farmers, who are forced to throw their tobacco on the market for what they can get, of course, will be taken advantage of by speculators, but those who can afford to be independent will get a good price. Buyers are frank in saying that farmers are holding their product too high now. This is their side of the question. The farmer has his, and he desires to get all he can for the tobacco, and the buyers' side is here given for his benefit.

Burley Pool Breaks.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 17.—After three attempts at the organization of a pool for 1910, the 40,000 burley tobacco growers of Kentucky, representing approximately 200,000,000 pounds of tobacco, declared the pool off, through their district board, which assembled here in session extraordinary Saturday night. The session lasted until after midnight, when a resolution declaring the pool off was finally passed.

This meant a race between the growers to get their tobacco on the market at whatever price they can get, and it is expected that the price will rapidly fall to rock bottom.

Within the past few days the American Tobacco company has rushed hundreds of buyers into the burley belt to buy all the tobacco in sight at 12@14 cents, without in many cases ever seeing the growing or uncured crop. These tactics demoralized the already weak pool organization, and the result has for several days been almost inevitable.

The action of the trust in placing many buyers in the field also helped to rush the auction of 100,000,000 pounds of the 1909 burley pool, now being held here, and the bids by independent buyers have had to be rejected on thousands of hogheads.

Further outbreaks of night riding because of the failure of the pool and consequent low prices are feared and freely predicted. The result of the failure of the 1910 pool is expected to be financial stringency, as the tobacco industry is by far the most important of Kentucky.

MRS. LICHTENSTEIN

PASSES AWAY AT HOME OF HER DAUGHTER.

Funeral Held at 2 o'clock This Afternoon at Residence of Mrs. R. Leob.

Mrs. Leah Lichtenstein, 93 years old, one of the oldest residents of Western Kentucky, died at 2 o'clock Sunday morning of infarction. Incident to advanced age, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. R. Leob, 100 Fountain avenue.

Mrs. Lichtenstein's life was a most useful one. She had been cheerful and bright in her last days, a marked characteristic of her earlier life. She was born in Hesseberg, Germany, in 1815 and came to the United States about 28 years ago, where she had lived with her daughter. She was a member of Temple Israel and was of a high type of womanhood.

Surviving her are three children: Mrs. R. Leob; Mr. A. Lichtenstein, of Denison, Tex.; and Mr. J. Lichtenstein, of Georgia, and a number of grand-children and great-grandchildren. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Leob, the Rev. Meyer Lovitch, rabbi of Temple Israel, officiating. Burial was in the Jewish cemetery.

The pallbearers were as follows: Messrs. Adolph Well, Herman Friedman, Sam Levy, Sam Feis, David Desberger and Joe Ullman.

Gentry Lofton.

Gentry Lofton, 15 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Lofton, died Saturday afternoon at the family home near Oaks station. He was taken ill with a congestive chill. He was born in Marshall county and besides his parents is survived by several brothers and sisters. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial at Brentsburg.

Gentry Lofton.

Gentry Lofton, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lofton, of Oaks station, died at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon following a congestive chill. He was born in Marshall county. The funeral will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon and burial in the Uriensburg cemetery.

Costly Difference.

Senator John Tilden Murphy recently evolved what he considered to be a fine conundrum:

"What is the difference between a druggist and a farm laborer?"

The answer, so Senator Murphy says, is:

"One is a pharmacist, the other is a farm-laborer."

The other day he strolled into a drug store in his district to get a prescription filled, the chief ingredient of which was borax. He pronounced the conundrum to his drug friend. After a slight mental struggle the clerk "gave it up" and was told the answer, and in due course, laughed heartily. A few minutes later the prescription was filled and the price was 65 cents.

"Thanks," said Senator Murphy. "I can understand the 15 cents, but what is the 50 cents for?"

"Oh, that," replied the druggist blandly, "that is the difference between the pharmacist and the farm-laborer."—Philadelphia Times.

The Wherefore.

"Why are you so sore on your congressman?"

"When we called on him in Washington last session, he made a speech to us instead of taking us out to dinner."

Teacher.—Jimmie, suppose you eat ten apples and ten oranges, and gave nine-tenths of them to some other little boys, what would you have? Jimmie—I'd have my head examined!—Tilt-Bits.

'Every Little Bit' Added to What You've Got Makes Just A Little Bit More

That's a good song to keep humming. Suppose you had saved one dollar out of every five you have made in the last five years. It would be quite a sum, wouldn't it? Well, don't let another five years go by without saving something

In Honor of the Crescendo Club.

Miss Virginia Newell's at home for the Crescendo club, which is composed of her music pupils, on Saturday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock, was a charming and informal occasion.

The delightful studio was a pretty bower of flowers. Roses, carnations, chrysanthemums and ferns carried out in an attractive way a color effect of pink and green. Miss Newell was assisted in receiving by Miss Lula Reed and Miss Anna Bradshaw. A delicious salad course served during the afternoon was a pretty emphasis of the pink and green motif.

An especially enjoyable feature was an edition of "The Afternoon Chronicle." A number of the club members were given newspaper assignments and the result was some very clever work. Miss Edna Cowling, of Metropolis, was the editor-in-chief. Miss Mary Terry Burnett had charge of the "Social Column." "Heard in the Lobby" was reported by Miss Bertha Ferguson. "The Lost and Found" column was happily handled by Miss Mary McCoy. A little story entitled "The Story My Pinno Told Me" was given by Miss Mary Smith. Miss Anne Bradshaw and Miss Anna Hill contributed some beautiful vocal numbers to the afternoon's pleasure.

Season of Prayer and Fasting Begins.

Torrey Revival Reaches Climax This Week--Immense Crowd Yesterday at Auditorium--Torrey's Sermon.

thy sin, calling on the name of the Lord" (especially the first part of the verse, "Why tarriest thou?").—Acts viii. 16.

It was God who asked the question, through His servant Ananias, of Saul of Tarsus; and I believe that God is asking the same question tonight through me of every man and woman and child in this building that is not openly confessed, out-and-out follower of Jesus Christ.

God is saying to you tonight, "Why tarriest thou? Who are you waiting for? Why do you not come tonight on the side of Jesus Christ."

Dr. R. A. Torrey, the noted evangelist, who is now conducting the revival at the Auditorium rink, has been sent out to every minister within a radius of 100 miles of this city and a large attendance is anticipated. Dr. Torrey will talk to them on the subject of "How to Minimize the Most Out of the Ministry." Dr. Torrey has held these meetings in Canada, England and in the United States and says the results have been wonderful. Many out-of-town ministers have already arrived in Paducah and others will arrive tonight and tomorrow. Several hundred are expected.

Wednesday has been set aside by Dr. Torrey as a day of prayer and fasting. A special prayer service will be held at the Auditorium rink Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the morning from 9 to 9:45 o'clock will be devoted to prayer and fasting by the residents of Paducah, who will hold services in their homes, inviting neighbors. Some will observe the day by fasting.

Dr. Torrey said this morning the interest in the meeting is at a high pitch and he is pleased with the attendance. He said the meeting has about reached the climax of enthusiasm and the time for prayer and fasting is come.

Mr. Jacoby's Story.

Neat Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Rev. W. S. Jacoby, who was a gambler and sporting man, before his conversion at the age of 45 years, will tell of his life. The center portion of the rink will be reserved for men and the sides for the women and children. The story of his life should draw a large crowd which has been in evidence in other cities where he has spoken.

Tonight the children's sunbeam chorus will sing and also on Friday night.

Yesterday afternoon the children's service was largely attended. The Edwardson mission school attended in a body. The "Sunbeam Chorus" sang.

Dr. Torrey's Sermon.

Last night the Auditorium was crowded to bear Dr. Torrey preach on "Why Do You Wait?"

Mr. Edwards sang with beautiful effect.

Dr. Torrey said:

"And now why tarriest thou? Arise and be baptized, washing away the sins of the flesh this question: What are you waiting for before you come out on the side of Christ? I would have you tell me your real reason. I would have you give me an honest answer, and then I would sit down beside you with the Word of God, and show you how little there is in your reason.

If I could do that I believe I could get almost every man and woman in this building that is out of Christ to accept Him tonight. But there is no time of course for that, it would take days and weeks and months, so I am going to ask you to do the next best thing. I am going to ask every man and woman who is not a Christian to forget about every one else, and not to look at me as preaching sermon to a multitude, but to think of you and me as being here alone in personal conversation together, face to face. Will you put to yourself this question before we begin our conversation, "What am I waiting for? Why do I not come out on the side of Christ tonight?

Now we are going to have a few moments of silence and prayer, and I am going to ask every Christian man and woman in the room to pray that every one may be honest, and I am going to ask all of you who are not Christians put this question to yourselves: "What am I waiting for?" Let us have silence.

With every man and woman put to themselves the question, "What is the real reason that I do not accept and confess Christ tonight; what am I waiting for?" Now will take up your answers one by one."

With every man and woman put to themselves the question, "What is the real reason that I do not accept and confess Christ tonight; what am

I waiting for?" Now will take up your answers one by one."

To Be Convinced.

1. Some of you have said tonight,

"I am waiting until I shall be convinced; just as soon as I am convinced that the Bible is the Word of God and Jesus is the Son of God, I will accept Christ as my Savior, and confess Him before the world." Now,

I want to make no offer to every man and woman who has made that vote for their execution.

But at last Saul of Tarsus had examined all the opportunities for murder in Jerusalem, but he had not exhausted the hatred of his heart. He breathed an atmosphere of murder and slaughter, and hearing that a hundred and more miles away, in the city of Damascus, there were followers of Jesus, he went with a heart full of hatred, to the High Priest, and said, "Give me letters to Damascus, and I will go and do in Damascus what I have done in Jerusalem. I will arrest all the Christians, whether men or women or children, and I will bring them down here to Jerusalem to be punished." His request was quickly granted.

It was a long journey across the barren, desolate, dreary desert, whether on foot or on horseback, but even staying for the burning heat of the noonday sun. At last he has almost reached Damascus, and he stands on the last hilltop, and there

Damascenes lies before him, in all its beauty, a city of olive groves, a city of vineyards, a city of gardens, and of sparkling fountains, a city of glisten-g palaces and dazzling rivers, a city which poets loved to sing, and of which one Persian poet says,

"Damascus is a diamond in a setting of emeralds."

But as Saul looks down on Damascus in all its fair-famed beauty, he has no eye for its beauty; his only thought is that in that city are some of these recurred Christians, and he advises to himself as he stands there,

"I will soon have them in my power, and be dragging them back to be punished at Jerusalem."

He starts to press on towards the city, to do the hellish work for which he has come, when suddenly there steps round about him a marvelous light with a brightness above that of the noonday sun, and there in the midst of it beholds the most wondrous face and form his eyes had ever gazed upon, the face and form of the glorified Christ.

Blinded by Glory.

He is blinded by the glory of it and falls on his face to the ground.

He hears a voice speaking to him, "Saul, Saul, why persecutes thou Me?" and the humbled man rises back from the ground, "Who art Thou, Lord?" and back comes the crushing and overwhelming answer "I am Jesus whom thou persecutes."

Then, thoroughly subdued and awed, he cries back, "Whom wilt Thou have me to do, Lord?"

And the answer comes, "Arise stand upon thy feet, and go into Damascus, and there it shall be told you what thou must do."

He rises to his feet, but everything is black. He turns his eyes hither and thither, but he sees nothing. He has to hold on his hand and be led like a helpless child into the city he expected to enter as a conqueror. He goes to the house of Judas, and there for three days and three nights he shuts himself up and sees no one, neither eating, sleeping nor drinking; but still he does not yield himself to Christ.

At last God, weary of waiting sends his servant Ananias with the message, "Why do you not come out openly and accept Christ, and confess Him before the world as your Savior and Lord and Master?"

Men and women, God is putting the same question to you: "Why arrest thee? Why do you not come out openly and accept Christ, and confess Him before the world as your Savior and Lord and Master?"

Torrey Revival Reaches Climax This Week--Immense Crowd Yesterday at Auditorium--Torrey's Sermon.

Ministers of Paducah and vicinity, representing all denominations, will be addressed at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the First Baptist church by Dr. R. A. Torrey, the noted evangelist, who is now conducting the revival at the Auditorium rink. Invitations have been sent out to every minister within a radius of 100 miles of this city and a large attendance is anticipated. Dr. Torrey will talk to them on the subject of "How to Make the Most Out of the Ministry." Dr. Torrey has held these meetings in Canada, England and in the United States and says the results have been wonderful. Many out-of-town ministers have already arrived in Paducah and others will arrive tonight and tomorrow. Several hundred are expected.

Wednesday has been set aside by Dr. Torrey as a day of prayer and fasting. A special prayer service will be held at the Auditorium rink Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the morning from 9 to 9:45 o'clock will be devoted to prayer and thought by the residents of Paducah, who will hold services in their homes, inviting neighbors. Some will choose the day by fasting. Dr. Torrey said this morning the interest in the meeting is at a high pitch and he is pleased with the attendance. He saw the meeting has about reached the climax of enthusiasm and the time for prayer and fasting is come.

Mr. Jacoby's Story.

Next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Rev. W. S. Jacoby, who was a gambler and sporting man, before his conversion at the age of 45 years, will tell of his life. The center portion of the time will be reserved for men and the sides for the women and children. The story of his life should draw a large crowd which has been in evidence in other cities where he has spoken.

Tonight the children's sunbeam choruses will sing and also on Friday night.

Yesterday afternoon the children's voices were largely attended. The Epworth mission school attended in a body. The "Sunbeam Chorus" sang.

Dr. Torrey's Sermon.

Last night the Auditorium was crowded to bear Dr. Torrey preach on "Why Do You Wait?"

Mr. McEwan sang with beautiful effect.

Dr. Torrey said:

"And now why tarriest thou?
Arise and be baptized, washing away

thy sin, calling on the name of the Lord" (especially the first part of the verse, "Why tarriest thou?").—Acts xxii, 16.

It was God who asked the question, through His servant Ananias, of Saul of Tarsus; and I believe that God is asking the same question tonight through me of every man and woman and child in this building that is not an openly confessed, out-and-out follower of Jesus Christ.

God is saying to you tonight, "Why tarriest thou? Why are you waiting for? Why do you not come out tonight on the side of Jesus Christ. Saul of Tarsus had Jesus Christ. Saul of Tarsus thought that Jesus of Nazareth was an imposter; he did not believe that He was the Christ and the Son of God as He claimed to be. But away down in the depths of his heart Saul of Tarsus had an uneasy feeling that perhaps He was the Christ, perhaps He was the Son of God, but he never admitted it even to himself. As far as his admitted convictions were concerned, Saul of Tarsus thought Jesus was an imposter, and he hated Jesus with a very intense hatred; and he said, "I am going to stamp out this religion of the followers of Jesus." And he not only hated Jesus Christ, but he hated everybody that bore the name of Christ, and whenever he saw a man or woman or child that believed in Jesus and followed Him, he hated them. He did everything in his power to stamp out the religion of Jesus. He went from house to house in Jerusalem and arrested men and women and children, sparing neither age nor sex, and dragged them before the courts to be tried; and when they were sentenced to death, he gave his vote for their execution.

But at last Saul of Tarsus had exhausted all the opportunities for murder in Jerusalem, but he had not exhausted the hatred of his heart. He breathed an atmosphere of murder and slaughter, and hearing that a hundred and more miles away, in the city of Damascus, there were followers of Jesus, he went with a heart full of hatred, to the High Priest, and said, "Give me letters to Damascus, and I will go and do in Damascus what I have done in Jerusalem. I want to arrest all the Christians, whether men or women or children, and I will bring them down here to Jerusalem to be punished." His request was quickly granted.

It was a long journey across the barren, desolate, dreary desert, whether on foot or on horseback, but day after day Saul pressed on, not even staying for the burning heat of the noonday sun. At last he has almost reached Damascus, and he stands on the last hilltop, and there Damascus lies before him, in all its beauty, a city of olive groves, a city of vineyards, a city of gardens, and of flashing fountains, a city of glittering palaces and dashing rivers, a city which poets loved to sing, and of which one Persian poet says, "Damascus is a diamond in a setting of emeralds."

But as Saul looks down on Damascus in all its far-famed beauty, he has no eye for its beauty; his only thought is that in that city are some of those persecuted Christians, and he adds to himself as he stands there, "I will soon have them in my power, and be dragging them back to be punished at Jerusalem."

He starts to press on towards the city, to do the hellish work for which he has come, when suddenly there comes round about him a marvelous light with a brightness above that of the noonday sun, and there in the midst of it he beholds the most wondrous face and form his eyes had ever gazed upon, the face and form of the glorified Christ.

Blinded by Glory.

He is blinded by the glory of it and falls on his face to the ground.

He hears a voice speaking to him, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou Me?" and the humbled man creeps back from the ground. "Who art thou, Lord?" and back comes the crushing and overwhelming answer "I am Jesus whom thou persecutest."

Then, thoroughly subdued and awed, he cries back, "What wilt thou have me to do, Lord?"

And the answer comes, "Arise stand upon thy feet, and go into Damascus, and there it shall be told you what thou must do."

He rises to his feet, but everything is black. He turns his eyes hither and thither, but he sees nothing. He has to hold out his hand and be led like a helpless child into the city he expected to enter as a conqueror. He goes to the house ofudas, and there for three days and three nights he shuts himself up and sees no one, neither eating, sleeping nor drinking; but still he does not yield himself to Christ.

At last God, weary of waiting, sends his servant Ananias with the message, "Why do you not come out openly and accept Christ, and confess Him before the world as your Saviour and Lord and Master?"

Men and women, God is putting the same question to you: "Why tarriest thou? Why do you not come out openly and accept Christ, and confess Him before the world as your Saviour and Lord and Master?"

I wish it were possible for me to go down from this platform, and to go from seat to seat, and from man to man, and put to every man and woman out of Christ this question: What are you waiting for before you come out on the side of Christ? I would have you tell me your real reason. I would have you give me an honest answer, and then I would sit down beside you with the Word of God, and show you how little there is in your reason.

If I could do that I believe I could get almost every man and woman in this building that is out of Christ to accept Him tonight. But there is no time of course for that. It would take days and weeks and months, so I am going to ask you to do the next best thing. I am going to ask every man and woman who is not a Christian to forget about every one else, and not to look at me as preaching a sermon to a multitude, but to think of you and me as helping here alone in personal conversation together, face to face. Will you put to yourself this question before we begin our conversation, "What am I waiting for? Why do I not come out on the side of Christ tonight?"

Now we are going to have a few moments of silence and prayer, and I am going to ask every Christian man and woman in the room to pray that every one may be honest, and I am going to ask all of you who are not Christians put this question to yourselves: "What am I waiting for?" Let us have silence.

Will every man and woman put to themselves the question, "What is the real reason that I do not accept and confess Christ tonight, what am I waiting for?" Now I will take up your answers one by one."

To Be Convinced.

1. Some of you have said tonight, "I am waiting until I shall be convinced; just as soon as I am convinced that the Bible is the Word of God and Jesus is the Son of God, will I accept Christ as my Saviour, and confess Him before the world." Now, I want to make an offer to every man and woman who has made that answer.

They make the mistake of thinking that when they grow tired of the world, they can turn to Christ without any sacrifice; they think that after a while a man will grow tired of the world and give it up without effort. What a great mistake!

The longer you live for the world the less enjoyment you get out of it, but the tighter its grip becomes upon your shriveling soul.

There will never be another night when it is so easy to give up the world as it is tonight. You know that is true in the case of the drinking man. If you will come to me at the close of this meeting I will show you the way to find out that, beyond all adventure, the Bible is God's Word, and Jesus Christ is God's Son. Now, if you are an honest skeptic, you will accept that offer, and if you do not accept it, never say again that you are a skeptic. You are a drunkard. Of course, if you are only a trifle I have no time to waste upon you, but if you are a sincere doubter, I would rather speak with you than anybody else in the building, for I have yet to find the first sincere doubter, the first sincere agnostic, the first atheist, the first Christian Scientist, the first Theosophist, who really wanted to know the truth, that I cannot show the way to find it.

All over the world tonight there are men who used to be agnostics and doubtless when it has been my privilege to lead them to Jesus. If you are an honest skeptic, you will accept that offer, if you do not, at least one good result will come of it—you will know when you go out of this hall that you are not an honest skeptic.

You say you are skeptics and agnostics; so I used to be, but I was an honest man, and when a way was pointed out I tried to see where it led, and thank God, it led out of the barrenness and desolation and darkness of utterihilism into a clear faith that cannot be shaken, that blessed book is God's Word, and it does not show the way to find it.

When a man begins to drink, there is pleasure in it; the first glass of beer or wine or of champagne has joy in it, and exhilaration in it—a man feels like two men; but as a man goes on drinking there is less and less joy, but the more complete his slavery becomes, until at last a man reaches a place, which thousands of men and women in Paducah have already reached, where they hate alcohol as much as any prohibitionist, but are utterly unable to give it up. They know it is robbing them of their brains, they know it is robbing them of their manhood, of the respect of the community, of the affection of their wives, and the confidence of their children. They know it is taking the bread out of their children's mouths, and the clothes from their wives' backs; yet, hating it as they do, they will take up their glass filled with liquid damnation, and drink it to the dregs.

You say, "That is true." It is just as true of the love of money. The slavery of money is as complete and as degrading as the slavery of strong drink. I would rather undertake to save ten drunkards than one money fiend, any day. When a man begins, there is pleasure in it; the first ten pounds, or the first hundred pounds, or perhaps the first thousand pounds that he lays by gives him joy; but as a man goes on accumulating, there is less and less pleasure, and at last there is no pleasure at all, but the man is the slave of the degrading lust for gold.

I was visiting a man in the State of Ohio, when I was living in Minneapolis, in the boom days, when men were making fortunes in a day. The man to whom I refer had a comfortable fortune of about $50,000 dollars, and was now upwards of 70 years of age. One foot was in the grave, and the other foot almost over the edge. Only a few weeks before I came to see him, they had to send post-haste for the doctor to come and pull the man's other foot away from the edge of the grave. After everybody else had gone to bed, he said to me in a low tone of voice—"What do you think?" "Oh," you say, "something about Heaven, something about eternity; a man with one foot in the grave and the other almost over would wish to talk about the future and what it meant for him."

But no, he leaned over and said: "Do you know any place up in Minneapolis where I could invest my money where it would bring big interest?"

Headache?—It's Your Liver

Too Many People Take Headache Powders When a Liver Tonic Is Needed.

Try Olive Tablets—the Substitute for Calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the one substitute for dangerous calomel. They do all of calomel's work without any of its bad after effects. There is no necessity when you take Olive Tablets of following them up with nasty, steaming, griping aperients or castor oil, as you should after taking calomel.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel or any other metallic drugs; they are a purely vegetable compound, sugar-coated, easy to take, and never gripes or causes weakness.

Thousands of people take one every night at bedtime just to prevent disorder of the liver, constipation, bad breath, pimples, headache, etc.

The olive oil in Olive Tablets is a natural laxative as well as a healing, soothing and strengthening ingredient.

Dr. Edwards, calomel's old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with liver and bowel troubles.

Try them for a week. Take one on retiring nightly.

To Enjoy the World.

2. Well, some one else may say: My case is different. I believe in the Bible just as much as you do, but I am waiting till I have enjoyed the world enough." There are a great many people of that kind in Paducah. Some of them have grown old and gray in that condition.

One night I went down the aisle almost to the far end of it, and the people were standing up singing, and I turned to a young lady and I said to her, "Why don't you become a Christian?" "Oh," she said, "I enjoy the world too much." I simply quoted God's word to her, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" and passed on.

They make the mistake of thinking that when they grow tired of the world, they can turn to Christ without any sacrifice; they think that after a while a man will grow tired of the world and give it up without effort. What a great mistake!

The longer you live for the world the less enjoyment you get out of it, but the tighter its grip becomes upon your shriveling soul.

I went in and one of them was the young lady of whom I am speaking. I said to her, "Why do you want to see me?"

"Oh," she said, "I do not enjoy the world any more; since you spoke to me your words have been ringing in my ears: 'What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?' And I have come tonight, and have brought my friend

I was staying at one time with a minister, and he told me this story.

He said: "After my wife and I had been married for fourteen and a half years she turned to me one night and said, 'Husband, I have made up my mind to be a Christian and to unite with the church.'"</

PADUCAH LEADS HIGH SCHOOLS

DEFEATS MADISONVILLE IN THE FIRST GAME.

Visiting Lads, However, Came Back Well in the Second Half.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL GAMES.

Paducah is in the race for the 11th school championship of western Kentucky as in the game Saturday the Madisonville team was defeated by a score of 20 to 11. It was the fourth victory for the Blue and White players this season, but their perfect record of not being scored on was smashed, as in a "come back" spirit the Hopkins county lads were able to push two touch-downs over.

Considering the fact that the weather conditions were better for baseball, the players put up a good game and the roosters were given a run for their money. In the first half Paducah played rings around the visitors and had the play altogether in the opponent's territory. In the second half Paducah started off well, but in a few minutes the fighting spirit of the visitors returned, and they had the fight all the way during the remainder of the game, and the local lads had to fight like demons to ward off defeat.

For the visitors Spillman, the little quarterback, was the whole show. His running of punts, passes and general running of the team showed him a classy player. Scott in the second half pulled off some star line plunges. For Paducah Captain Browning, Hughes, Yarbrough did good ground gaining, while Ogilvie did good defensive work in the second half. On the ends Mitchell and Humphreys at intervals did good work, while the line was weak in the second half.

In the first quarter Paducah kicked off, but soon regained the ball and on straight line plunges sent over Yarbrough for a touchdown. Goal was kicked. In the second quarter after working down the ball to the 30 yard line Hughes made a pretty pin-kick. A few minutes later Paducah worked the ball down to about the same place. On clever fake Browning took the ball and while the Madisonville players stood bewildered Yarbrough dashed over the goal line. King kicked goal. Before the quarter was over Browning carried the ball over again for the last touch-down, and Hughes kicked goal.

SECOND HALF.

In the second half Madisonville rallied, and in a punting duel carried the ball down within two yards of goal. Paducah played vigorously, and kept them from scoring when time was called. Goal lines were exchanged and Madisonville had the ball at the start in 20 yards of goal. By steady line rushes Scott was shovelled across for the first touchdown for the visitors and Spillman kicked goal. In the next kick-off Paducah lost the ball on a fumble, and Madisonville again took the ball and by repeated dashes through the line, moved Scott nervous again for the second touch-down. Spillman failed at goal and the score ended 20 to 11. After that Paducah braced and took the ball up the field by leaps, but lost the pig-skin, and Madisonville started for another touchdown when time was called.

Hughes was knocked out twice, but not seriously injured. Yarbrough turned his ankle. In the last tuck of the game Spillman, the plucky little Madisonville quarterback, was downed hard by F. Brownrigg and was put out.

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderful beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. This preparation is sold by all first-class druggists for 50c and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 73 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by W. J. Gilbert.

New Tuberculosis Remedy Based on Medicine

To say that a specific exists for the cure of Consumption is perhaps too strong a statement, but in Eckman's Alternative we have a medicine that has saved many cases of Tuberculosis, many a life, and given many a patient a life of years of usefulness and in many cases completely curing a large number of Compromised.

Persons afflicted with a certain disease should be well fed with wholesome, nourishing food, but frequently raw eggs in quantities cause a digestive breakdown, and then no food can be taken. As far as I know, a very poor food for many, but a producer of disease for some.

Any diet that keeps Consumption patients well is the right one, but what is going to cure the patient?—Eckman's Alternative has cured and is curing many cases of Consumption. Let those who know know. It is a speed cure.

90 Savanna St., Paducah, Ky.—Gentlemen: On June 3, 1907, I was operated upon for Tuberculosis perforating the intestinal wall.

After the operation my physician gave me up as hopeless. I was then urged by a priest to take Eckman's Alternative which did the trick. My weight at the time of the operation was 100 lbs. I steadily gained in health and strength, now weigh 125 lbs, and am absolutely cured. I believe in Eckman's Alternative.

(Signed Alford) EDNA FINZER, Eckman's Alternative cures Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Diseases, as well as all forms of Catarrh and wrote to the Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

TORREY'S SERMON

that town and held a prominent position, and I said to her, "Why, you must not do it; you and I have lived very happily together for fourteen and a half years, but if you become a Christian, I have no intention of becoming one, and that will just separate us for ever."

But she said to me, "I must be a Christian. I love you, nad would do almost anything to please you, but I feel I must first please God."

"Well," I said, "you become a Christian. If you feel that you want to, but you must not unite with the church."

"She regarded my wishes in this respect, and so we went on for six months; she a Christian, and I not. Then she said to me, "Husband, I must become a member of the church if Jesus Christ!" (Of course, if a person is converted they will never be happy out of the church.)

"Then," her husband said, "I was very angry, and said to her, "If you go to join the church, I want you to understand that you are nothing more to me. We have lived happily together now for fifteen years, but if you unite yourself with the church from this time on you go your way, and I shall go mine, and you will be nothing more to me." She said, "Husband, I love you, and I would do all I could to please you, but I must first of all please God, and I have made up my mind to unite with the church tomorrow."

She went to her room and I went to mine. I was very angry with her. I was getting angrier all the time, I could not sleep. I heard eleven o'clock strike, and I was very angry; I heard twelve o'clock strike, and I was more angry still; I heard one o'clock, and I was angrier still; but when two o'clock came, I called out to my wife, "Wife, I am converted!"

The husband and wife went into the church together. He became a minister of the gospel, and today he is in heaven.

If that wife had waited for him, they would have gone down to a Christless grave and a Christless eternity together. Oh, men and women, come to Christ and bring your friends with you. Even if they do not come, you come to Christ. I would start for heaven tonight, even if I had to start alone. I would rather go to heaven alone than go to hell in company. I believe that one of the darkest experiences of that dark world will be when a husband goes there is met by the wife whom he despised there.

In one of my pastorates a solemn thing occurred; before I had gone there, in a neighboring township there had been a great awakening, and many people had come out on the side of Christ, and one night, when the preacher extended an invitation for all those who would accept Christ to come to the front, a lady rose from her place to do so. But her husband, sitting back of her, laid his hand on her shoulder, and forced her back into her seat. She fled to him, and she drifted away from her conviction into skepticism and blank infidelity. That is the way people become infidels, by rejecting the Spirit of God.

Show me a hundred infidels, and I will show you in ninety-nine cases men who were under conviction of sin at some time or other, but who have rejected the spirit of God. This lady became an utter atheist. Some time afterwards there was a revival in the town. It caused the infidels of the town to be greatly stirred up. When we get a revival, it stirs up the infidels wonderfully.

They said, "This cannot go on. We will send off and get one of our Indian fidel lecturers;" and they got their lecturer, a follower of Ingersoll. Thank God, they did have that lecturer. People went to hear him, and when they had heard him, they said, "If that is infidelity, we do not want any of it."

While waiting for this professor, this lady said, "I can hardly wait for Professor _____ to get here."

She did not wait. There was a little card party being held on the Saturday night, and this lady and her friends were among the party. Eleven o'clock on Sunday night came, and they were still playing cards; at twelve o'clock they were still playing; and at one o'clock on Sunday morning—on the Lord's day—they were still playing cards. Sabbath breaking and card-playing go hand in hand, you know. About one o'clock in the morning this woman sprang to her feet, clapped her hands on her head and cried, "Oh!" and dropped dead beside the table.

I shall never forget my meeting with her husband after that awful day. I had never spoken to him before; but I happened to walk into the postoffice, and this man came in at the same time, and he came across the postoffice and held out his hand, and with a grip of despair, he took my hand in his. He knew he had sent his wife into a Christian eternity. Oh, don't wait for others; come yourself, and bring others with you.

POLL TAXES

WILL BE COLLECTED BY SHERIFF THIS YEAR.

After November 15 He Intends to Get Execution of Property of Delinquents.

Voters might as well dig up $1.50 with which to pay their poll tax as it is going to be paid this year according to the edict issued by Sheriff Honer. He is determined to reduce delinquent tax list this year, and has given his word that he will sell the property of a citizen in order to get the tax due the county and state. November 15 will be the last date for voters to pay their poll tax. After that date Mr. Honer will garnish the delinquent poll taxpayers, and force them to pay their tax. He will give every taxpayer a fair opportunity to pay the tax without the penalty, but the dilatory taxpayers will have to suffer.

ENCROACHMENTS IN MECHANICSBURG

CITY ENGINEER REPORTS TO GENERAL COUNCIL

City Refuses Bornemann Bequest of Money for Ice Water Fountains.

REGULAR COUNCIL MEETING.

Last night before the board of councilmen adjourned City Engineer L. A. Washington presenting a condition which exists in the streets in Mechanicsburg. In several instances fences and buildings extend out on the street from as much as 6 inches to 3 feet and it appealed to the board for some instructions before he begins the surveys for the construction of the concrete sidewalks. On Clements street there is a row of trees that must be cut down and several buildings and fences that must be removed. City Solicitor Campbell said Mr. Washington should use his best judgment in making surveys and the street committee was instructed to act with Mr. Washington at once.

Both boards last night formally refused the bequest of $3,000 made by William Bornemann for the establishment of the ice water drinking fountains.

The Aldermen.

The bequest from the will of William Bornemann for the establishment of public drinking fountains was refused last night by the board of aldermen. Because of the conditions necessary to obtain the money it would be too heavy an expense for the city. One of the requirements was that the water must be cooled, which would require a large quantity of ice in the summer.

MERCHANTS AND RESIDENTS ON South Second street between Broadway and Kentucky avenue requested that the fence around the market house be removed. They reported that the stench is unbearable, and the request was referred to the board of public works. It was complained that the refuse is not cleaned properly from around the market house late Saturday night, and that it is unsanitary on Sunday. The board of public works was instructed to take immediate steps towards an abatement of the nuisance.

In writing in the minutes a clerical error was made in recording the ordinance for the concrete sidewalk on Trimble street between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets. At present it reads Fountain avenue between Trimble and Monroe streets.

EMPLOYEES OF THE Illinois Central shop requested that the newly constructed walk across the hollow from Clark street to the north yards be repaired. The walk is composed of crushed rock, but the heavy rains washed the walk away in some places. The employees also want a bridge erected across the stream so that they may cross after a heavy rain. The request was referred to the board of public works.

The honor of being president pro tem was passed around to Alderman Van Meter last night. He kept up with the business with dispatch, and the board adjourned earlier than usual.

The street committee was instructed to get an estimate of the cost of getting right-of-way over property of the Illinois Central in order to extend Powell street to Wall street.

To the cemetery committee was referred the request of Mrs. Ollie Anderson to Dr. W. W. Wilkinson.

quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. Has automatic-locking flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so the wick can be quickly cleaned.

It has a damper top and a cool handle. Indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filter-cap does not need to be screwed down; it fits in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain, and cannot get lost.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscREWED IN AN INSTANT FOR REWICKLING. The Perfection is finished in Japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

AN OLD-TIME PRESCRIPTION

In a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost every one knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready to use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. Such a preparation is Witch's Sage and Sulphur, which is sold by all leading drugstores for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or which is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Corliss St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by W. J. Gilbert.
